

ABSTRACT

A method for regenerating a motor vehicle particle filter that uses a mechanism for regenerating the filter when a load value exceeds a predetermined threshold. Further, a parameter representing operating conditions of the regenerating mechanism is calculated, and the operating conditions of the regenerating mechanism are controlled on the basis of the parameter.